CALL FOR PAPERS

Journal of Cellular Automata publishes high-quality papers where cellular automata are studied theoretically or used as computational models of mathematical, physical, chemical, biological, social and engineering systems.

A few examples are given in the list below, which is but a small sample of the areas of interest explored by this journal:

Structure formation • heat conduction • self-reproduction • language recognition • evolutionary games • image processing • cryptography • random number generation • computational universality • traffic dynamics • neural networks • alternative discrete-physics models • population dynamics • etc.

Notes for contributors can be found at the journal website at: <http://www.oldcitypublishing.com/jca-notes-for-contributors/>

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Journal of Cellular Automata publishes one volume per year, six issues per volume.

Subscriptions are renewed on an annual basis.
